

PARTY IS SLAIN BY ENDORSEMENT

Decision to Get Behind Republican Nominee Made After Stormy Session.

CHICAGO, June 27.—By a vote of 22 to 6, with nine members declining to vote, the national committee of the progressive party Monday endorsed Charles E. Hughes, for president, and the bull moose party practically went out of existence as a national political organization.

The decision to endorse the republican presidential nominee came at the end of a stormy session. The fight in the committee for Hughes' endorsement was led by George W. Perkins of New York, James H. Garfield of Ohio, and Chester H. Rowell of California.

Radicals Protest Strongly.
The radical element in the committee, represented by Matthew Hale of Massachusetts, Bainbridge Colby of New York, Henry F. Cochems of Wisconsin and John M. Parker of Louisiana, vigorously protested against the endorsement of any candidate for president, and fought the majority at every step of the proceedings. The minority's first move was to insist on an open session of the committee, and it won this point after a number of committee members led by John M. Parker, bolted the meeting.

After Oscar King Davis, secretary of the committee had read Col. Theodore Roosevelt's letter finally declining the progressive nomination for president and urging that Mr. Hughes be supported by members of the progressive party in order to defeat President Wilson, the committee voted to accept Col. Roosevelt's declination and took a recess for luncheon.

At the beginning of the afternoon session, Chairman Matthew Hale of Massachusetts ruled the next order of business was to fill the vacancy on the ticket caused by the refusal of Col. Roosevelt to run.

Life Is Passed.
Bainbridge Colby of New York presented the name of Victor Murdock of Kansas, chairman of the national committee, now on his way to China. This led to a clash between Raymond Robbins of Illinois and Mr. Colby, in which the tie was passed. Mr. Robbins said Mr. Murdock had told him he would not accept the presidential nomination. The proposition to run a third party ticket then was defeated after a spirited debate by a vote of 21 to 15.

James H. Garfield of Ohio next introduced a resolution endorsing Hughes for president, and directing the executive committee of the progressive party to cooperate with the republicans in the campaign.

Henry F. Cochems of Wisconsin contended the committee had no authority to endorse any candidate and that its power was limited to the filling of the vacancy on the ticket caused by the refusal of Col. Roosevelt to run.

Chairman Hale ruled that the motion to endorse or recommend the republican candidate for president was out of order and a debate of several hours ensued.

Finally James H. Garfield appealed from the decision of the chair and was sustained 22 to 14.

Delay Move Beaten.
Before the roll was called on the endorsement of Hughes, Bainbridge Colby made an unsuccessful attempt to have all action delayed until August 5, the anniversary of the birth of the bull moose party.

The following states voted for the endorsement of Hughes on the roll call:

Alabama, Arizona, Arkansas, California, Colorado, Connecticut, District of Columbia, Georgia, Illinois, Indiana, Iowa, Kansas, Louisiana, Maine, Maryland, Michigan, Minnesota, Nebraska, Nevada, New Hampshire, New Jersey, New York, North Dakota, Ohio, Oregon, Pennsylvania, South Dakota, Texas, Vermont, Virginia, Wyoming, Hawaii.

After endorsing Mr. Hughes the committee on motion of Dean W. O. Lewis of Pennsylvania, unanimously decided that the action should not be binding on any individual.

MOVE TO SPEED UP WORK ON NAVAL CONSTRUCTION

Senate Sub-Committee Advocates Building of 16 Ships in Three Years.

WASHINGTON, June 27.—A provision for completion within three years of the navy general board's building program of 16 capital ships was written into the naval bill by a senate sub-committee Monday on the recommendation of Pres. Wilson. The sub-committee previously had agreed to accept the board's recommendation for completion of the program by 1922, but reversed itself by a unanimous vote after Sec'y Daniels had explained to the sub-committee at Monday's meeting that the president as well as navy officials was anxious that construction be speeded up as much as possible. It is understood information regarding the rate at which European nations are building played an important part in the decision.

Addition of 10 destroyers to the building program for the coming year also was decided on by the sub-committee. That would bring the total vessels of this type authorized for 1917 up to 26. There were numerous other increases over the construction provisions in the bill as passed by the house, including substitution of eight capital ships next year—four battle cruisers and four dreadnaughts—for the house provision for five battle cruisers and no dreadnaughts. The administration is particularly anxious that at least two dreadnaughts be authorized.

The sub-committee expects to report Thursday to the full committee.

FIND BODIES OF TWO BOYS IN OLD COAL MINE SHAFT

Father Overcome by Gas When He Attempts to Rescue Son and Another Lad.

ROCKPORT, Ind., June 27.—The bodies of Arthur Parker, 16 years old, and Vince Bullington, 14 years old, were found at the bottom of an abandoned coal mine on the farm of E. F. Parker, about two miles from Newtonville in this county. They had left the Parker house about 3 o'clock Sunday for a walk. When they had not returned at night, Parker went in search of them and discovered the bodies. He descended into the hole and was overcome by the gas. He was rescued by neighbors, who succeeded in getting the loop of a rope around his neck and dragged him out. He remained unconscious until Monday morning. He will recover.

HUGHES WELCOMES BULL MOOSERS INTO THE FOLD

Arraigns Wilson Administration for "Weakness and Inertia"—Lauds Col. Roosevelt.

NEW YORK, June 27.—Charles E. Hughes, republican nominee for president, sent a telegram to O. K. Davis, secretary of the progressive national committee, Monday night, welcoming the support of the progressive party and arraigning the present administration for its "weakness and inertia."

In making public the contents of the telegram Mr. Hughes also gave out a letter he had written to Col. Roosevelt, in which he declared that the nation was indebted to the colonel "for the quickening of this national spirit and for the demand for an out-and-out 100 per cent Americanism."

Here's an Act Not on The Big Show Program

Here is a picture of an act not on the circus program. The funny old clown's name is George Hartzell. Possibly you have heard of him before, for he is one of spangleland's most famous jesters. The name of Hartzell's admirer is not known, but there is no gainsaying the fact that he is a good "audience." Hartzell is telling him one of the "Brer Rabbit" stories. This clown's specialty is devoted to making children laugh. Indeed all the 60 and more sawdust comedians with the Ringling Brothers' circus have a leaning in that direction. They will tell you that with all respect to the splendid Ringling concert band, and after giving due credit to the fairland melodies which intersperse the wondrous circus spectacle, "Cinderella" there is nevertheless another kind of music still sweeter to their ears. And that is the sound of children's laughter.

Wherever the acres of Ringling tents are spread there are always hundreds of juveniles on hand to see the clowns, to watch the antics of the Shetland ponies, the trick dogs, the knowing monkeys who ride them, or go into raptures over the caperings of the trained bears and the baby elephants and goodness knows how many other wonderful things. Yet there are always those unfortunate youngsters who cannot enter the great canvas palace of lights and spangles. Some of these venture near the rear of the big tents in the hope of catching a stolen glimpse of the snow white horses or the fairy-like ladies who ride them. George Hartzell or one of his brother clowns frequently capture one of these youthful marauders, but, instead of administering a paddle, they take the youngsters on their knees and tell them wonderful stories. The Ringling Brothers' host of funny fellows are coming here Saturday, July 8th and since the circus is this season traveling almost 90 carloads of wonders, there promises to be much to interest the grownups, who go to the circus to take the children who go to see the clowns.
